Avigilon Unity on-premise security suite

Get total visibility and control for safety inside and out

For many organisations, keeping physical security data on site isn't a choice, it's a necessity. From safeguarding sensitive data to meeting strict compliance and retention policies, many large enterprises, governments and critical infrastructure sites require systems that deliver on those needs.
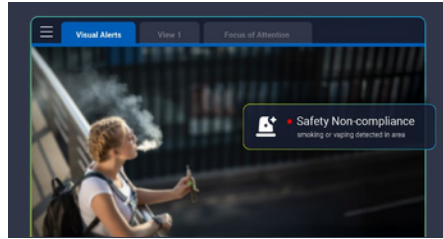

Unfortunately, many systems force a trade-off between data security and usability. While you have control of your data, you often have to deal with fragmented information or complex setup and management. Avigilon Unity helps solve this by unifying on-premise video security and access control into one powerful, easy-to-use platform, giving organisations a trusted foundation for data sovereignty while protecting people, property and places.

Why Avigilon Unity

Complete protection in one platform

Secure your site from all angles with a unified, on-premise platform that's designed for privacy. Protect every door with access control and know what's happening with video security. Optional cloud services offer remote video management without compromising control.

Smarter insights, faster response

Stay a step ahead of incidents with AI onboard the Unity Video VMS and cameras. Easily set-up alerts just by typing it out, investigate events faster with AI-powered search, or create BOLO watch lists for vehicles and people to accelerate real-time responses.
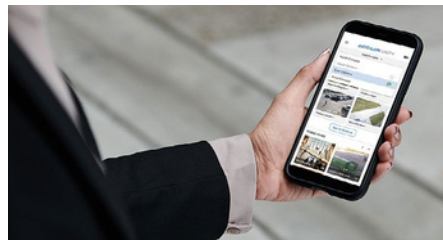

Security inside and out

With Unity, cybersecurity takes center stage. From certified hardware to encrypted software and detailed access logs, it helps keep highly regulated and everyday environments secure, compliant and in control.
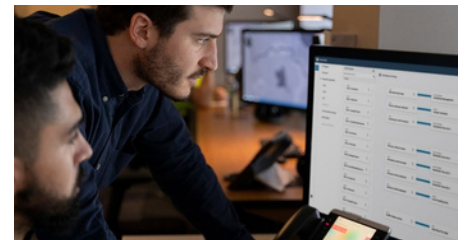

Interoperable with what you have

Leverage what you already own and extend its potential. Unity is an open platform, allowing you to integrate third-party software and hardware. Or, build a custom integration to address your unique technology needs with our free tools.

Ready to grow with you

Easily scaleas you grow.Unity offers an enterprise-grade platform that works across desktop and mobile. It can support up to 10,000 cameras and 4,000 doors per site, so you can handle today's needs and have room to expand tomorrow.

Connect to a powerful ecosystem

When your technologies work as one, results follow. Unity connects with the broader Motorola Solutions' safety ecosystem via Orchestrate, a free automation tool that automates technology workflows, speeds up response times and strengthens security.
